

Special Train Fare Arranged for Game Scheduled Saturday

Ticket Sale Starts Thurs. In the Union

A special fare for students travelling to Toronto for the McGill-Varsity game has been arranged by the Red and White Society which is managing the transportation. Tickets will cost $12.65 including tax and will be valid on the train leaving Friday at 11 p.m. and arriving Saturday at 7 a.m.

If a sufficient number of students are interested a special coach will be arranged on the Friday afternoon express which leaves at 3 p.m. and reaches Toronto late Friday evening. Twenty-five students are needed to warrant such an arrangement.

All tickets are valid for return any time Saturday, Sunday or Monday. There will be special coaches on the evening trains those three days so that the McGill crowd can stick together.

Lists will be posted in all main campus buildings in Montreal and at Dawson starting today and a spokesman for the Red and White Society requests that all those who intend to take advantage of the reduced rate sign these lists so that (Continued on Page 4)

Married Veterans At American Institutions

One of every six students now registered at the University of New Mexico is married. Registration in all colleges has increased over the record for the spring semester with 1,600 freshmen students enrolled. Figures include more than 1,900 in the College of Arts and Sciences, 500 in the General College, 150 in the Graduate School, 500 in the College of Engineering, 200 in the College of Education and 150 in the College of Fine Arts.

Because veterans enrolled at Ohio Wesleyan University who were overseas in the European Theatre of Operations during World War II have expressed interest in studying the German language, a special course will be given for them this fall. The course will adapt the familiarity with conversational German acquired by some GI's during the war and on occupation duty, to basic study of the language.

WORLD EVENTS

PARIS—Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa today told a plenary session of the Peace Conference that the parley had not failed, and he pleaded for "unity and tolerance" between eastern and western Powers.

STUTTGART—Police of suburban Backnang announced tonight they have arrested Hjalmar Schacht, one of the men acquitted by the war crimes tribunal, in an industrial castle. He was charged under denazification laws.

LONDON—A proposed drastic revision of Britain's Empire defence strategy by shifting key military bases from the Eastern Mediterranean to East Africa was disclosed tonight by an authoritative War Office source.

This source said the General Staff had proposed tentatively the withdrawal of British administrative and supply bases from the Eastern Mediterranean.

NANKING—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was reported tonight to have accepted a proposal put forth by the American presidential envoy General George C. Marshall calling for a 10-day military truce as a breathing spell to give Kuomintang and Communist negotiators a chance to discuss their outstanding political differences peacefully.

MIAMI—A vicious tropical hurricane officially reported to contain 125-mile winds, spun like a meteorological buzz saw along the Florida west coast tonight, sending thousands of persons scurrying for shelter.

Sale of Used Texts To Begin Thursday

The Book Exchange, located in the McGill Union basement, will be open on Thursday morning from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for the sale of used text books.

The Exchange has been taking in books during the past two weeks and has been able to obtain a fairly complete line of texts in Maths, Chemistry, Biology and the Modern Languages—French in particular. Books on other subjects are also available.

Ray Davis and the Sigma Chi boys are again in charge of the Book Exchange this year.

CROWDS SWELL VARSITY ALSO

Delighted Students
Enjoy Late Labs
Early Lectures

We aren't the only crowded campus. University of Toronto would have us know. Seventeen thousand students are jamming their lecture rooms and dorms, and the engineers are entrenched in the Ajax Division, enduring the same isolation as our Dawson boys.

Line-ups have become a habit at U. of T.—for books, meals, interviews. Everybody seems to be the one behind the fellow who gets the last book, or the last table.

They tell us that the camp chairs that lined the hall to the registrar's office have finally been stored away. Maybe they should have taken them to the classrooms and saved the wall the strain of supporting the student body.

We hear that lectures are held at eight a.m., and there are labs in the evening—even Saturday nights. There's a fair chance of hearing the professor if you sit near the front, but then you can't get out until 200 other eager seekers of earning file out the door in front of you, so that you miss half your next lecture.

Renovations and construction work are going on in many parts of U. of T.'s campus. But although new additions to the university buildings are under construction, comparatively little has been done to ease the housing problems of her student.

Univet Issues Press Release

Univet Enterprises Association, in a recent press release, gave an account of some of its activities during the past year. In the past seven months, the Association has succeeded in finding well over four thousand jobs, on a part-time basis, for approximately three hundred student veterans. Besides this, many jobs which do not appear on the Association's records were obtained by student vets who made their first contact with the employer through Univet.

The Association came through the year without incurring any liabilities and have accumulated a small bank balance, as well as a considerable amount of office equipment and furniture. With these assets on hand, Univet does not anticipate any further expenditure along those lines.

In his report, the President, Paul LeBrooy, signified his intention of handing over the management of the company to the McGill Student Veterans Society, or to some other competent body. Mr. LeBrooy made special mention of the time and efforts of the Advisory Board of the Association, whose assistance was invaluable to the completion of a success year, as was that of the voluntary staff.

All desk editors and news heads are requested to meet today at 1 p.m. at The Daily Office.

Students Society to Meet Soon

Date Set for First Meeting of Body

As a result of the motion passed by the last meeting of the Students' Society toward the end of last term, the Students' Executive Council at a regular meeting held in the Union last night decided to hold a meeting of the Students' Society on Tuesday afternoon, October 22, at 5 p.m., in the Union ballroom.

The motion was approved by a majority last year so that the student body as a whole and the incoming class in particular could have an insight into the mechanism of the Council. It was decided by the governing body last night that a few reports be made to the meeting, and following these a general question period be set aside. At that time, students will be able to gain information as to the policy and duties of the various elected members.

The quorum for this and every Students' Society meeting will be 500 regular undergraduates as passed at the same meeting last March.

Another important item on the agenda last night was the discussion of the budget for the Debating Union Society, which was approved unanimously, thus giving the debaters an opportunity to follow through with a prepared plan to organize debates with various Canadian and American universities.

The executive of the society represented by Rosenfeld, Huggess and Berbrier presented a plan whereby an extensive program of debating, far-outreaching any other at McGill, will be put into effect. Along with the regular Inter-University Debating League debates, others are planned locally with clubs such as the Board of Trade. In intercollegiate competition, the executive has contacted Harvard, Yale, Princeton and several other American and Canadian universities with a view to increasing the scope of the McGill debates.

Jokers Club Launch Drive For Members

Vancouver. — (CUP) — Dave Heyward, king of the University of British Columbia's unique Jokers Club, is back in the news with secret plans for a startling year.

Formed last year to raise funds for UBC's proposed Memorial Gymnasium, the Jokers Club has been in the news ever since with their somewhat bizarre, but apparently successful, methods of raising money for the gymnasium.

Last year their exploits included:

1. Eating goldfish.
2. Diving fully clothed into a swimming pool.

Heyward estimated yesterday that approximately half the male population of UBC will join the Jokers Club this year. Permission has been given the University of Alberta to form a club affiliated with the UBC Jokers.

Details of the year's plans were unavailable, but Heyward likens them to a smouldering volcano.

You may quote me as saying the Jokers will be in there like a dirty sock," he said.

But he reiterated the Jokers Club is, has been and always will be strictly a male organization.

"No women," he said.

A campaign to recruit new members will begin next week, when "shuffling" a system of initiation like fraternity rushing will be introduced. Apparently, under its secret constitution, the club to organize into a complicated system of packs and decks.

"A 'shuffer' first belongs to a pack," explained Heyward. "When he graduates to a deck he's entitled to a few more privileges."

CANADIAN CAMPUS

— a CUP feature

This Fall, the Canadian Campus has grown, not only in size, but in its actions and thoughts. Without exception the old "not for knowledge do we go to college" days have passed. Yet under this new dignity there is still the old college love of a good gag and a bit of cutting-up. Some universities are carrying on the old tradition of freshman hazing. Some believe that our Canadian Campus has outgrown such stunts.

Here therefore is a rapport on initiation week, past and present, on our different Camp.

UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

After five years of austerity during the war freshman hazing reappeared here this Fall with renewed vigor. Like most universities British Columbia did not include freshmen veterans in its college initiation stunts, but non-veteran frosh roamed the campus sporting green paper ties, unmatched socks, and twelve inches of exposed leg to proclaim their lowly position. Palled freshmen made their college debate minus make-up and wearing green cardboard goggles, faced with the threat of green lipstick tattooing and castor oil dosing for those who disobeyed.

In meeting out punishment to those who broke the freshman conduct rules, upper-classmen showed characteristic consideration; as they carefully removed all watches and valuables from erring frosh before dunking them in the lily pond.

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

Freshman hazing (in its true meaning of rather violent action) was discontinued on this campus some years ago after a hazing stunt brought about the death of a boy with a weak heart. Traditional initiation week routines here, in addition to the old standby of lipstick dabbing and pigtailed, include the cute idea of having all frosh wear gold and green baby bonnets, to remind them of their low rank, as they pass their first luckless days at college polishing seniors shoes and bowing to their glowering superiors.

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN

A new note was struck at this university, where while freshmen were subjected to no hazing in consideration of veteran students, freshmen underwent more grotesque initiation routines than ever before. Introduction day found co-ed frosh tramping the campus, in pour-

Would-be Tars Hold Meeting Re U.N.T.D.

Last night's sizeable crowd of embryonic naval flat hats met in Dawson Hall to receive information on the University Naval Training Division. Assistant Principal for Dawson, Prof. Gillson, introduced the speakers for the evening, to wit, Lt. Cdr. Kimble, Professor of Geography at McGill, Cdr. Little, R.C.N.R., of Ottawa, and Lt. Cdr. Earnshaw, R.C.N., the Commanding Officer of H.M.C.S. Donnacona, Montreal.

The U.N.T.D. plan was outlined to some extent by the speakers. It seems that, for the first two years, the would-be shiny-pants is an Ordinary Seaman, or N.C.O., and during this time he receives instruction at the University, with facilities at both the Dawson and Montreal branches, two weeks annual training afloat, and an opportunity to spend his summers on active service (voluntary).

What's more, he gets paid for it, at generous rates—six hours instruction counting as a day. Service during the summer is also paid for, which offers a fair chance of stacking up that little sock you know you need. After the two years, the potential silt for a selection board, and, if accepted, becomes an officer candidate. The pay from then on is at the rate of four-fifty per batch of six hours, or day on active service. A full commission goes with the sheep.

Burning Up

Fire Prevention Week Recalls Former Disasters at McGill

This being fire prevention week in Canada, it is appropriate to glance over McGill's record and see how fires, which might have been prevented, have caused considerable damage to buildings, have destroyed invaluable documents, and for a time threatened to diminish the university.

April, 1907, was truly a disastrous month for McGill. Within eleven days of each other, two fires broke out, one destroying the MacDonald Engineering Buildings, the other the McGill Medical School and Museum.

At 4 a.m. April 15, 1907, flames were suddenly discovered shooting out of the Engineering Building, the alarm was given, but by the time the fire engines arrived, the strong wind had spread the flames throughout the building. However, the firemen did a marvelous job of saving the Workman Building which was threatened several times by flames. It took the Fire Department 2½ hours to bring the fire under control, but by that time the roof and walls had collapsed, and almost all of the building except the ground floor was totally destroyed. All that is, except the exam papers, which some professor had removed from the building previously, perhaps from intuition.

An inquiry later disclosed the fact that the night watchman who was always in charge of this building, was ill that night and he had found no one to take his place. The origin of the fire was never known, but one could not help feeling that if a nightwatchman had been at his post as usual, the fire might have been prevented, or at least stopped in time.

On April 26, 1907, another fire hit McGill, this time destroying the Medical Building, one of the best equipped in America. The results of this fire were most disastrous, for in addition to the usual equipment, the Museum, one of the best on the continent was destroyed.

This fire also broke out early in the morning, and a passerby gave the alarm and awoke the janitor. Soon the fire was pretty well

Arts, Science Hold Banquet Oct. 15

The Arts and Science Freshman Banquet, which was to have been held Sept. 27th has been advanced to Tuesday, Oct. 15th, it was announced today. The Banquet was postponed, due to the lack of facilities at Dawson in the early weeks of the term, but conditions have improved to such an extent that a particularly fine "Do" has been arranged. Members of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society executive will be on hand to meet the new students—and also to get a free meal.

Daily's Talks On Journalism Begin Today

The series of lectures, given yearly by members of The Daily, on journalism, commences today in Montreal and at Dawson. In Montreal the lecture will be held in the Music Room of the Union at 5.15, while at Dawson, prospective journalists should convene in The Daily office at 7.15.

Allan Knight, Editor-in-Chief of The Daily, will conduct the lecture in Montreal on the topics: "Psychology of the Reader," and "The News Story, and Lead and Body". Dawson, meanwhile, is in for two lectures, the one already mentioned and also "News Style and Attitude". Both will be conducted by Tim Buck, News Editor of The Daily. It is going to be a policy this year to hold two lectures at Dawson each night while Montreal will only receive one at a time.

There will be two further lectures at Dawson, one on Oct. 10 when Norm Wolfe, Daily Sports Editor will talk on "News Coverage and Headwriting" and "Sports", the next on Oct. 15 when "Features, Special Coverage, Polls" and "Layout, Copyreading and Photos" will be conducted by Althea McCoy, the Features Editor.

Montreal lectures will continue on till the 24th and will range as follows: Oct. 10—"News Style and Attitude" by Allan Knight; Oct. 15—"News Coverage and Headwriting" by Tim Buck; Oct. 17—"Sports" by Norm Wolfe; Oct. 22—"Features, Special Coverage, Polls" by Althea McCoy; and Oct. 24—"Layout, Copyreading, Photos" by Herb Shayne, Managing Editor of The Daily.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL RULING

1. That no club or society, other than the Freshman Reception Committee be allowed to sponsor any social functions which purports to be part of the Freshman Reception Activities.

2. That for the first two weeks of the academic year, no clubs or societies through their activities or publicity shall attempt to influence the freshman or freshmen, either directly or indirectly, on behalf of their clubs, and that all publicity stories concerning club activities in the third week must be submitted to the Editor-in-Chief of the Daily in person.

3. All requests for permission to hold social function in the second week of the academic year shall be submitted to the Students' Executive Council for approval.

4. That no social function be allowed to interfere with an event sponsored directly by the Students' Executive Council, the Students' Athletic Council, the Undergraduate Societies, the Red and White Society, or any other group so specified by the Dates Committee of the Students' Council.

5. That the number of social activities for the past year on the campus has been excessive, and therefore, other clubs and societies shall be encouraged to hold social functions for their own club members only, but NOT for the campus at large.

Beaverbrook Gives Scholarships to UNB

Fredericton, N.B., Oct. 7 —(CUP)—Lord Beaverbrook, of the English newspaper and wartime Minister of Aircraft Production, has endowed the University of New Brunswick with ten scholarships. These will provide for all expenses for one to two year periods of post-graduate work at the University of London in England. They are to be awarded to top graduates of the university annually, and undergraduates of at least two years standing may also receive them if they are unable to finish their professional training at U.N.B.

Lord Beaverbrook, recently appointed chancellor of the university, has endowed it with scholarships in the past, as well as two fine buildings.

Dutch Schools Invite Canucks To Classrooms

Toronto, Oct. 5.—(CUP)—Largely as a result of the impression made by Canadian soldiers in Holland during the war, a plan has been formed by the universities of The Netherlands to welcome Canadians to their classrooms. To interest our colleges in the idea, Mr. Beerdend Bangma, fifth year U. of Amsterdam student and originator of the plan, has been visiting Canada.

The Dutch plan, supported by their government, suggests that each student be allotted to a family with whom he would live both during the regular session and the summer holidays. Special courses given in English and tours of Holland and other countries would familiarize the students with European life, customs, and problems. Those Canadians lucky enough to be included in the exchange quota will pay only their fare to Europe and back, since they will be guests of the Netherlands government and students.

"Canada is closely connected with the freedom of The Netherlands, and Canadians are cherished in the hearts of Dutchmen," said Mr. Bangma. "We feel that friendships established during the war should be extended and firmly cemented, because in the world of today a bond of friendship between two countries is really worth something. We would like to do something in return for all the aid you have given us and that is the reason we extend this invitation to your students."

Eventually, it is expected that the International Students' service will take over the program and extend it to include more European countries. For Canadians the opportunity to welcome and learn to know students from foreign lands and, perhaps, to study in (Continued on Page 4)

Yank Freshmen Said Illiterate

Liberal arts colleges today have an immense obligation to teach plain literacy to students who come to college unable to read the printed word with any degree of comprehension, according to Dr. Louis B. Wright of the Huntington Library, San Marino, Calif.

Speaking at the recent inauguration of Dr. Arthur G. Coons as president of Occidental College in Los Angeles, Dr. Wright said: "Some of us who had a part in the naval training programs were shocked at the complete innocence of reading habits displayed by aspirants to naval commissions. Many boys simply were incapable of reading ordinary prose exposition and extracting any meaning from it. The present illiteracy of high school graduates is one of the critical problems which liberal arts colleges must try in some fashion to correct."

Music Faculty Candidate Wins By Acclamation

Elections for faculty representatives to the Students' Executive Council will be held Friday, October 11. The only faculties concerned are R.V.C., Engineering, Dentistry, and Music, since these are not at present represented on the council.

Nominations received are as follows:—from the Faculty of Dentistry: Hugh R. Bonnell, Guy R. Corbosiello, and Harry R. Shkurnik; from the Faculty of Engineering: George Schneider, Geoffrey W. Ince, and Leonard Starkey; from R.V.C.: Joan Mason, and Dorothy Peterson; from the Faculty of Music: Barbara Goodwin, the only candidate, who will be elected by acclamation.

Polling Booths for R.V.C. will follow below, but arrangements for balloting as far as the other faculties are concerned have not as yet been forthcoming.

All women undergraduates may vote for the R.V.C. representative. Polling booths will be open from 12 noon to 2 p.m., and are as follows:

R.V.C.: All resident students in R.V.C., Strathcona Hall, McLennan

Attention, Council Nominees
All candidates for the Students' Executive Council must hand in their photographs and platforms to The Daily Office by Wednesday at noon. The platforms should be limited to one hundred and fifty words.

Hall and A.N.A. House; also all women students in Music and M.S.P.E.

ART BUILDING: All women students in the Library School, Commerce, and Arts, not in residence.

MEDICAL BUILDING: All women students in Physiotherapy, Medicine, Dentistry, Graduate Nurses, and Law.

CHEMISTRY BUILDING: All women students in Architecture, Engineering, and Science.

Hedwig Brown, President of the Women's Union, expressed the hope that women students who are new to the University "will use discretion, and will make it their duty to acquaint themselves with the candidates and their platforms."

Platforms of the various candidates will be printed in Thursday's Daily.

Two Colleges Revise Style Of Curriculum

A revitalizing of the College of Arts and Sciences at Rutgers University to meet an increasing demand for liberal education, and a revised educational policy at Brown University aiming for a compromise between the elective system and the fixed curriculum, have been announced.

Dean Harry Goddard Owen of the College of Arts and Sciences at Rutgers University reports that the program at the college this fall is centered about the restoration of the humanities to their full importance and the further development of the sciences "which generally speaking, were kept healthy during the war."

"Present enrollment in the college and our estimated registrations for next year indicate that the war has increased interest in truly liberal education," Dean Owen said. "College students, and particularly the veterans, are more aware than ever that they must have a fully rounded education to understand the problems of our democracy, which many of them were called upon to defend, and the workings of international organization which they must help perfect."

Senior Track Squad Seeks to Regain Cinder Leadership

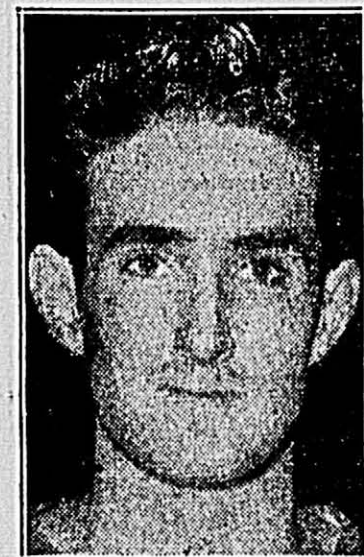

The McGill Senior Track team has really started the stretch drive in their attempt to regain the Intercollegiate track crown at Toronto on October 25. With only 6 or 7 holdovers from last year's second-place squad back with the team, Coaches F. M. Van Wagner and Hugh Borsman will have to rely largely on a team made up of newcomers to intercollegiate track circles.

At present there are a number of very promising prospects on the roster but if anyone would still like to come out and try to garner a spot on the 10-man squad it is not too late. Track enthusiasts are also reminded that there will be an intermediate track team formed that will compete against squads from Dawson, Macdonald, Ottawa U., St. Pat's, Queen's, Loyola and others on November 2 at Molson Stadium. A further track event is the Interfaculty Meet which will take place on October 18. It is at this time that the final Senior and Intermediate nine events will be chosen.

NEWCOMERS

Among the newcomers pounding the cinders at the Pine Avenue oval is burly Lionel Fournier, as versatile a man as any coach would like to see. Aside from turning a better than average performance in nearly all of the field events Fournier can turn in a mean century dash. Andre Lamontagne, although with the team last year, has raised a few eyebrows with his smart 440 performance at the special relay during Saturday's Football interval.

However, when the chips are really down McGill can be sure of two aces, Andy Gillespie and Dick

ANDY GILLESPIE

Brewerton. Andy has made a great name for himself in distinguished track circles by virtue of his stand-out performances in the quarter and half mile events while holding the Dominion championship in the latter event. Brewerton, while recovering from a foot ailment at present, can nevertheless be counted on for points in hurdles events and is also a fine quarter miler. Although he has not finished first in all his races he has beaten every man who has ever defeated him.

PROSPECTS

At present the following men have been working out at the listed events:
100 yd. dash: Hugh Munroe, B Cooper, McVittie, Kehoe.
220 yd. dash: Same as above adding Lamontagne and Dick Pennefather.
440 yd. dash: Gillespie, Brewerton, Pennefather, Lamontagne, McVittie, Davis, Norman.
880 yd. dash: Gillespie, Goss.
1 mile: Graham, Ballon, Logan.
3 miles: J. Henry.
Pole Vault: Rider, Bowker, Fitzgerald.
Hurdles: Brewerton, Malkin.
Broad Jump: Rodgers, Fournier.
Shot: Bartlett, Oulette, Kubina.
Discus: Fournier, Bartlett.
Javelin: Fournier, Lewelling.

Net Tourney Reaching Peak; Stalwarts Idle

So far old man weather has smiled on the efforts of the McGill Tennis men in their playoffs. The sun seems to be going to smile everlastingly on the McTavish courts as our racketeers finish the matches which will decide the team for the Intercollegiate tourneys.

The first seeded player is Jack Spencer, last year's champion, who is defending his title this year against several top flight men. Next comes Jim Duff, second seeded player, who promises to give a determined fight for the laurels. Among other seeded men are Bobby Duford and Milt McDowell, and they are sure to put up a great battle. All in all, then, the tennis finals promise a better than average team for the final test which brings together the top men from four of Canada's best Universities.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

G. Bronson beat J. Rostant; P. de Grandpre beat G. Rouleau; T. Gatliffe beat Bill Mulligan; F. R. Wake beat P. McKell; K. S. Hoyle beat A. F. Holmes; D. Rabin beat J. Footmans; W. A. Mennie beat Bert Walsh; Stew Wright beat Arch. Ramsey; R. D. Collier beat R. W. Butler; E. Courey beat Bob Newton; Frank Kaszas beat T. Grenier; B. Macaskill beat Bob Ami; C. Brossard beat T. S. Kennedy.

David Marks Says....

"If the Canadians can do it so can we," is the cry of Dave Campbell leader and coach of the McGill Intercollegiate hockey champions as he called the first practise of the season for this Thursday at twelve at the Forum. However, trying to write about hockey when the temperature is edging up towards the 80 mark, is a very difficult task, believe me. The only consolation is the fact that thinking about hockey and ice (and long, cool glasses) helps to make the heat more bearable.

From this observer's vantage point it looks as if the Redmen will have little trouble in repeating their last year's performance, that is unless Ace Bailey happens to come up with a few more Wally Halders. With one of the finest goalies in hockey today, Jack Gelineau, guarding the nets and little Dick Curry back as insurance, McGill is fairly well set in this position.

OLD BOYS RETURN

Back on the defense this year will be last year's captain Bobby Boderick, unless his work up in the delivery room interferes. Cy Beigler, a new poppa this summer, is out at Dawson and if he can get his motorcycle going for commuting purposes, he will be another sure starter. Gosselin, a regular on the defense will be missing, having become a casualty in the Faculty War ending in May, 1946. However, unless something unexpected happens Doug (my legs are two inches bigger than Blanchard's) Heron will be around to lean on the opposing team forwards. I don't think Dave Campbell will mind if Doug is not around until the end of the Football season, providing Mr. Kerr can keep him moving at a rapid rate. One of M. Eron's greatest trials last year was the extra turn that he had to take around the rink just to prove that he was as fast as any man on the ice.

It is up on the front wall that the greatest changes will probably take place. Johnny Plerson leading scorer (and penalty bench sitter) is now down at Hershey, Penna. where he is trying out for the Hershey Bears and last weekend proved he is still deadly about the nets by scoring on Frankie Brimsek during an exhibition game. Long Danny Porteous is also looking for greener pastures and is no longer at the Institution for the Advancement of Learning. The line of Sinclair and the Hale brothers are around while Jimmy O'Connor will undoubtedly be commuting from Dawson again this year.

NEW FACES

In addition the influx of students this year will allow Dave to uncover some new talent. The fact that this year the rules only permit thirteen men to be carried throughout the season will mean that there will be a traffic scramble for the remaining positions on the team. High on my list to grab one of these spots is little Ernie Spiller, who showed well in the first two games last season when he was replacing Porteous. Ernie may not be as smooth as some of the other trying for the team but is a heady player with a great deal of drive and a heart as big as a house.

As I see it... The big test of the McGill line will be this Saturday when they will be out to stop Doly and Meyers... Alouettes are driving Hayman to drink with their sloppy playing. From what I hear there are liable to be some heads chopped in the near future if the boys don't buck up... The Grads reunion committee should erect a statue to Murray for sending their members home in a happy state of mind... How are we going to get our footballers to hockey practice?

University Wrestlers Begin Practices

The McGill Wrestling Club is once again moving into high gear as it calls for more volunteers for the grunt and groan society.

New men are urgently needed to make up a fully representative squad, and none need worry about making the grade, as a tourney will soon be held in which none but newcomers will participate. This tournament will decide upon the relative merits of the new additions, and so as many men as possible are requested to be on hand for practices.

Once again our coach is the old reliable Frank Saxon, who may be relied upon to give the best in wrestling instruction to all who turn out for the squad.

At present, the 135-lb. class can boast of Sherwin Raymond who last year won the C.I.A.U. Championship. The 155-lb. class has Joe Sabbath who is well known to all McGill wrestling fans for his prowess in the catch as catch can sport.

Other star men are Ronnie Gar-side, a 145 pounder, Wallie Kowal at 175 lbs., and the redoubtable Dent Jim McLeod, who at 165 should show even more class for coach Saxon this year.

NOTICE

Sports News from Dawson College cannot be carried on Page 3 in the Daily until some more reliable method of transporting copy can be worked out. Until this time Dawson Sport News will be carried on Page 4. However, as soon as it is feasible Dawson will once more return to Page 3.

The student's results had been extremely bad, and finally in desperation his father had offered him a prize if he should do something really clever. So when the student went home for a weekend, this conversation took place:
"Dad, you ought to give me the prize. I can do something the professor can't do."
"What's that?"
"I can read my own writing."

M.W.S.A.A. Will Gather At 5 Today

Today at 5.00 p.m. the McGill Women's Athletic Association are holding their semi-annual meeting. This is one of the most important meetings of the year because the section managers are to be elected. This is not the place to stress the importance of exercising our democratic rights, suffice it to say that the people whom you elect to fill these positions should represent the majority of women students on the campus. It is therefore the duty of all coeds who possibly can, to turn out to this meeting.

This meeting will also give the freshmen a chance to get acquainted with the various club managers and learn something of the activities planned for the coming year.

Sections

As in former years, the women students will be divided into sections for inter-mural competition. Points are awarded to the winning teams in basketball, badminton, swimming, archery and other sports. The winning section is announced at the MWSAA banquet in the spring and awards are presented. This intermural competition permits women who are keen on sports but who are not good enough to make the intercollegiate teams to play in matches and to improve their game. Competition between the sections is often keen and the final scoring often close. Intersection games also give coeds a chance to meet girls from other years and other faculties. The sections are as follows: Section A, 1st year, A-H, Section B, 1st year, I-Q, Section C, 1st year R-Z, Section D, 2nd year, Section E, 3rd year, Section F, 4th year, Section G, Physiotherapy, Section H, Graduate Nurses. The first six sections include students in Arts, Science, Commerce, and Music.

At the recent executive meeting of the MWSAA, a slate for section managers was drawn up. However nominations will be called for from the floor so that coeds should come prepared to nominate someone for these positions. The nominations so far are as follows: Section A: Joan Ferrebee, Section B: Mona Macfarlane, Section C: Alice Stewart, Section D: Louise Macfarlane, Section E: Peggy Jean Ross, Section F: Ann Furness and Margaret Duguid. Sections G and H elect their own managers at their own meetings.

AWARDS

Awards won last year by first year students will also be presented to those who have returned to college. Badminton: Senior M—Ann Merston, Junior M—Ann Merston, Carol Horsburgh, Basketball: Senior M—Ann Merston, Louise Macfarlane. June M—Dorothy Nichol, Elaine Ritchie, Ann Wasylyk, Ann Merston, Louise Macfarlane. Fencing: Junior M—Ann Rubenstein. Swimming: Senior M—Audrey Garneys, Carol Horsburgh. Junior M—Audrey Garneys.

The importance of this meeting has already been stressed so that MWSAA executive expects to see as many of you as possible in the Women's common room in R.V.C. at 5.00 p.m. today.

Just give me a man With a million or two, Or one that is handsome Would happily do. A dashing young fellow Is swell any day, Or one that is famous Would suit me O.K. But if the man shortage Should get any worse Go back to the very First line of this verse.

Intercollegiate Golfers Named for Tourney

Frank Pope, diminutive niblick swinger from the School of Commerce repeated his performance of last year and topped the Interfaculty Golf Championship for the second successive year with a 36 score of 79-77-156. Jack Haldimand was runner-up with a card of 82-75-157. Rounding out the Big Four who were chosen to represent McGill this weekend at Calarqui Golf Club in Kingston were Chris Doscher and Dave Morrison who carded 158 and 159 respectively.

The above-mentioned four some have shown up remarkably well in competition and will prove to be formidable opposition to the defending champions from Toronto.

Other scores in the Interfaculty competition are as follows:

Jack Dewey 161
Bill Alexander 167
Larry Tarshis 168
Ralph Johnson 168
Norm Dorken 169
Ross Nicholson 170
Bert Love 171.

HAIR-RAISING STORY

Rugby Team Non Shavers Till Next Win

McGill's hipper-dipper football squad has given a new proof of their fight and confidence. The Daily has received news of a brand new Faculty composed entirely of members of the Big Red team—the Non-Shavers Faculty (N.S.F.), which has pledged not to shave (Ah bliss) between a defeat and a subsequent victory. At the instigation of this beautiful gesture Johnny Newman was found to have the greatest growth of bristle (a two day crop) and was at once made Dean, or more modestly, president of the group. Bill Orban and Tom Fisher were the next most productive and hence hold the offices of Vice-President and Secretary.

The complete text of the covenant follows:

CONTRACT—N.S.F.
Paragraph I
We the undersigned do agree that upon failure to win any game in the current football season we shall not shave until after we have won a future game.

Paragraph II
Failure to comply with the above rules and regulations will result in a fine payable at the rate of a minimum of one pint of beer to each of the other members of the N.F. at a gathering to be held at a specified time and place following the final game.

Paragraph III
If a man does not play due to injuries or otherwise when the game is played he is exempt unless he is still not shaving from the last lost game in which case he will continue not shaving.
(Signed)
J. Newman, President.
W. A. Orban, Vice-President.
T. R. Fisher, Secretary.

Paragraph P.S.
We also agree not to seek any loopholes whereby we may escape any of the above penalties.
Editors note:
For perhaps the first time in our history the Daily has substantiation of the above story—the original signed contract and charter of the N.S.F. which can be produced upon request.

Symphony in "C" 'Cat' n' Catcher Chuck n' Club As Cards Clout Cronin Cuties

Behind the masterful four hit pitching of Harry (the Cat) Brecheen and the timely swatting of backstop Del Rice, Eddie Dyer's battling St. Louis Cards whitewashed the vaunted Boston Redlegs by a 3-0 count.

Although the winners only garnered six hits themselves, they bunched them together and took advantage of Pinky Higgins' error to count the points that evened up the World Series at 1 game each. The teams now move to Boston where the third game is slated for Wednesday, and will likely see big Dave "Boo" Ferriss match slants with lean righty Murray Dickson.

RICE-BRECHEN

The Cards moved into a one run lead in the third frame when catcher Del Rice, appearing in his first World Series game led off with a resounding two-bagger to the far left field corner. Eddie Dyer, playing for a safe run ordered the next batter, pitcher Brecheen, to bunt. After taking a called strike and bunting foul, the "Cat" promptly slashed the next offering of Southpaw Mickey Harris for a bingle to score Rice with what proved to be the winning run.

Meanwhile, Brecheen was hand-cuffing the Boston Bombers in every inning. Proof of this lies in the fact that none of the Sox reached the third base in the entire contest. McBride singled to open the first but a twin killing, Marion to Musial, rubbed him out. In the second Harry passed York and Higgins but got Williams, Doerr, and Pardee on easy infield rollers.

Ted Williams, Boston's slugger deluxe, found the southpaw slants of Feline Brecheen tricky. He was behind Harry on each of his four trips to the plate and teed off only once only to line to Red Schoendienst who played directly between first and second as part of the Dyer shift.

TWO MORE

ing rain, wearing pajamas tucked into rubber boots, plaid skirts hanging out, and carrying all their notebooks about in tin pails. As if this was not enough to chasten the freshette ego one cheek was branded with a lipstick 'U' and screwed-up pincurl haldors were topped by green and white freshie beanies. There is no doubt that U. of Saskatchewan freshettes are among the most thoroughly initiated of any Canadian Campus.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO

In deference to its veteran students Western has not had hazing during the past two years. In former years freshettes wore rags in their hair and forwent make-up while freshmen sported earrings and rolled up pant legs. Best touch in these remembered stunts was the inspiration of having all fresh carry an umbrella and a dictionary... items not likely to make any self-conscious freshman feel inconspicuous.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

As hapless freshmen at Varsity paraded the campus in various weird and wonderful outfits, modelling backward lab coats, name placards and crowned with wire halos, Toronto easily came off as the prizewinner in regard to ingenious initiation stunts for this year. Best of these was carried on outside the campus when the women in the Faculty of Medicine acted as individual conductresses on Toronto street cars wearing, reversed lab coats, black stockings on their heads and a red stocking on one of their legs, decorated by a huge garter. One to a car, their job was to escort passengers to their seats.

UNIVERSITY OF MCGILL

At McGill as at Western freshman hazing has been abolished in the interest of the many exservice students. Here, freshettes and freshmen mingle with the upper-classmen without placard, pigtail or paint legs to mark them as newcomers.

under way, and a crowd of people gathered to watch. Every few minutes the roar of flames was punctuated with crashes, as the chemicals were exploding, and the crowds ran back a considerable distance.

This fire was believed to be the work of incendiaries since two suspicious characters were seen hiding in the bushes near the medical building just before the outbreak, but proof of this was never found. Sir William Macdonald, who originally paid for the building, replaced the Engineering Building which was opened April 27, 1909, but for a while it was feared that the Engineering Faculty might have to be excluded from the University.

Lord Strathcona, who had endowed the first medical school, came to the rescue by providing for the erection of a new building, which was opened June 6, 1911.

DATES COMMITTEE

In view of the limited meeting room facilities of the Union the house committee requests that all clubs and societies desirous of having regular weekly meetings in the Union, submit to the President in the next four days, the time, day and number of students expected at these meetings.

With this information, the committee intends to draw up a schedule that will insure all those clubs a regular room for their specified day, and thus avoiding unnecessary postponement of any meeting due to lack of accommodation. In the event of any conflict in the schedule, the various clubs concerned will be consulted. This schedule will not prevent the various clubs from having meetings for the general student body on days other than those scheduled for their own private meeting.

A regular schedule for the first term will be published in the McGill Daily at the beginning of next week.

Students under the age of 21 who wish to obtain a pass on the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway, should apply at the Registrar's Office, and fill out the necessary form.

bachelor degrees will be required to complete freshman English, two years of a foreign language and two years each in the humanities—literature, art, music and philosophy—the sciences and social studies, in addition to required work in their chosen field.

New courses in geography heretofore not completely developed in the college curriculum, have been instituted in the Geology Department which has been broadened and renamed the Department of Geology and Geography.

The Department of Art, one of the casualties of the war, is being completely revived. A new course entitled "Introduction to the Humanities" will be given cooperatively by the Departments of Art, Music and English. It will permit an integrated presentation of the major movements in the three arts from 1700 to the present.

A new course in Russian history and the revival of courses in Balkan, Near Eastern and Oriental history highlight the strengthening of the Department of History and Political Science. This department also offers a wider range of courses for those interested in foreign and domestic Government service.

Red and White Society spokesman stress the fact that they can make no arrangements for accommodation in Toronto and urge that students set to work immediately making reservations.

To date, no word has been received from Toronto as to post-game activities on the campus but news should be received by The Daily on this score before the end of the week.

This year Canadian universities have more than capacity enrollments. But in spite of difficulties experienced by both Toronto and McGill, there is a spirit of construction and vitality pervading the student world.

The question of registration for part-time employment for Dawson students was discussed and it was felt that Mrs. Tessier of the Montreal bureau would visit Dawson to interview those who signified their desire to find part-time employment in the city. All requests are first to be handed in to Mr. Knowles at Dawson College.

The Dawson Council, when it is functioning properly again, will be asked to take care of employment for Dawson students in St. John's and vicinity.

Em Predicts
Great Season
At St. John's

Athletic enthusiasm has hit a new peak at Dawson, according to Athletic Director Em Orlick, who states that campus facilities and equipment are being taxed to the full. The Dawson organizational machine is rolling smoothly now that activities head into their second week.

The Dawson gymnasium, located on Osler Road, is humming with activity these evenings, as various teams gather for pre-season warm-ups. A basketball practice was held last evening, with "Doc" Jim Holmes directing the cage shooting, while on an adjoining floor, floor hockey enthusiasts went through their first practice of the season. Boxing also got under way with a few pugilistic aspirants slugging it out for a few rounds.

Dawson's soccer team is scheduled to oppose a McGill eleven at Molson Stadium's upper field this Saturday, in a pre-season exhibition that promises a great deal of excitement. Dawson soccer coach, Frank Ramsay, feels confident that "it will take a powerful McGill squad to handle the Dawsonites" and lists as his reasons for this statement the fact that he has men from the West Indies, India, and France vying for positions on his boot-and-run aggregation. It is likely that forward Lecoq, who has played professional soccer in Paris and Bournemouth, will line up with the eleven.

Negotiations are now under way for the formation of an intercollegiate soccer league, and an official announcement regarding this will be released shortly.

Dawson's Fall tennis tournament is now well under way with the first round slated to end by Saturday. With 64 contestants striving for honours, the three campus courts will see a lot of action before a champ is declared.

POTENTIAL CHEERLEADERS
There will be a meeting of all male students who are interested in cheer-leading at five o'clock in the locker room of the gymnasium. The five most capable applicants will be used. The three best will get the Toronto trip and the Queen's trip.

Good Cheerleading means good spirit.
Good spirit means good support.
And good support means a good team.

Two fleas fell in love and got married. Young, industrious and ambitious, the fleas worked hard and saved their money. They sacrificed their luxuries. They sacrificed fun to the future. One day they counted their money and were overjoyed to find they had saved $5.

"If we can save five, we can save ten," they agreed, so their thrift continued. They tolled, economized and did a lot of planning... spurning the frivolous pleasures of other fleas. Finally came the day when their savings totalled $10.

Veteran and Other Students
(Of All Years)

All students who are considering teaching as a profession to follow after graduation should consult the professor of education in Room 19, Arts Building, before October 14—last date for changing courses—to make sure that they have the right first and second year subjects (which may be taken in any year). University graduates train for high school teaching in a full-time fifth-year course, taken in the Department of Education at McGill University and in the schools of the metropolitan area. Bursaries are now available for this purpose.

Vaseline
HAIR TONIC

Is your hair dull... lifeless... hard to comb? That's a sign of Dry Scalp. You need 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. A few drops daily supplement the natural scalp oils, keep your hair in fighting trim, healthy looking and easily combed. Loose dandruff disappears. Use with massage before shampooing, too.

'Vaseline' Hair Tonic contains no alcohol or other drying ingredients. At toilet goods counters everywhere.
